Map of the laboratory in Ljubljana with approximate paths followed by the robot during data acquisition. The standard path is represented with blue dashes and the extended path is represented with red dashes. Arrows indicate the direction in which the robot was driving.